JULY 2003 | VOLUME 2 | ISSUE 3 deaxors

Dear Alumni and Triends:

I have so enjoyed my time with the College of Education Alumni Chapter and the Board of Directors; it has truly been an exciting first year for all of us. I want to personally thank those who supported the chapter this past year and do encourage you to continue your interest and participation with the College of Education in any way you can. I was delighted to have met many wonderful, enthusiastic teachers, education alumni and friends at our events and celebrations. Your continued involvement is so important to the college and the university.

This past November we celebrated American Education Week with many presentations and workshops for alumni. The highlight of the week was the college's Alumni Awards Dinner where six distinguished alumni were recognized for their years of outstanding and valuable contributions to education. It was a wonderful time for everyone. Please be sure to take a look at a photo of the award winners in this edition of Endeavors. If you know a deserving nominee, take a moment to fill out this year's nomination form on page 3.

At a March event, more than 150 teacher education students and experienced Maryland teachers from throughout the region attended a terrific presentation by Renee Rosenblum-Lowden, author of You Have to Go to School, You're the Teacher! The audience filled the STIVERSITY STIVERSITY

Arts/Sociology auditorium; it was a huge success. Our alumni chapter plans to offer other presentations in the coming year. In fact, this issue's calendar of events lists events that are already planned.

I hope you all enjoyed Maryland Day in April. Did you have a chance to meet several members of the alumni chapter board? They graciously volunteered to help at the College of Education tent and were anxious to meet as many alumni as possible, encouraging those not currently members of the University of Maryland Alumni Association to join.

Dean Edna Mora Szymanski hosted several receptions for education alumni in many regions of the country last year. She visited Philadelphia, Baltimore, Florida, and Chicago and plans to continue outreach to alumni during the upcoming year. We were especially pleased to connect with nearly 200 alumni and friends from the Baltimore area who attended a reception at Hidden Waters, hosted by Chancellor of the University System of Maryland, William E. Kirwan and his wife, Patricia.

I can assure you another successful year in 2003-2004 with many diverse and interesting events planned for everyone. If you have ideas for activities that you believe would serve the alumni chapter well next year, please contact us! You can send an email to pc34@umail.umd.edu, with your suggestions.

This is your alumni chapter and we want to be responsive to its members. Please let me take this opportunity to reach out to all our alumni and friends to become involved by participating in the entertaining as well as stimulating activities on next year's schedule. We want you to take pride in the University of Maryland and your College of Education. Have a delightful summer. Jean Mullan

Class of 1968

President, Education Alumni Chapter

College of Education Maintains its Momentum: Ranks 21st in the Nation

The University of Maryland's College of Education maintained its ranking of 21st in the nation, with two additional programs rising to be among the top 10 in the nation, according to the 2004 U.S News & World Report survey of Best Graduate Schools.

The Counseling and Personnel Services department (CAPS) was ranked first in the nation for the fourth consecutive year, and the Department of Special Education maintained its ranking of fifth in the nation for the second year in a row.

Edna Mora Szymanski, Dean, noted with pride that currently, the college is ranked by U.S. News & World Report in the top 15 of all education specialties except for one in which it has no program and five programs in the top 10. No other institution in Maryland or the greater Baltimore-Washington area has any top 15 ranked programs.

Programs with significant improvements in the rankings over last year include Rehabilitation Counseling, which is classified under the category of Allied Health. The program now ranks ninth, up from last year's ranking of 15th. The Department of Curriculum and Instruction moved up to rank 11th compared to last year's position at 19th.

"This year's rankings reflect the excellence of our programs by recognizing our accomplished faculty," Szymanski said. "It is especially significant that we have two additional programs now ranking in the top 10 and that we have maintained the strong standings across the board." Further, the college has more top 15 ranked programs than any of the university's stated peers: University of California-Los Angeles, University of California-Berkley, University of Michigan, University of Illinois, and the University of North Carolina.

Here are the current U.S. News rankings:

- Counseling and Personnel Services—1st
- Special Education—5th
- Rehabilitation Counseling—9th (last year: 15th)
- Education Psychology—10th
- Higher Education Administration—10th
- Education Policy—11th
- Curriculum and Instruction—11th (last year: 19th)
- Elementary Education—11th (last year: 13th)
- Administration/Supervision—12th
- Secondary Education—14th (last year: 16th)

Editor's Note: A complete analysis of the college's rankings, with comparisons to peer institutions, can be found on the College of Education web site at: http://www.education.umd.edu/ collegeinfo/generalInfo/coeDeptexcellence.html

The 2004 U.S. News & World Report Guide to America's Best Graduate Schools is available at bookstores or on the magazine's web site: www.usnews.com/usnews/edu/grad/rankings/edu/eduindex_brief.php

Anderson's Achievements Celebrated at University Alumni Gala

The University of Maryland Alumni Association honored L Carl E. Anderson with the 2003 College of Education Distinguished Alumnus Award as part of its fourth annual Awards Gala on April 12, 2003.

He was among the 19 individuals recognized at the dinner and ceremony held at the University Inn and Conference Center. Six individuals received awards from the Alumni Association, along with the 13 others who accepted distinguished alumni awards from their respective colleges and schools. Anderson, who is Vice President for Student Affairs Emeritus of Howard University, is the recipient of numerous awards and honors. He was part of Howard University for 32 years, serving as Director of Student Activities, Associate Dean of Students for Administration and Student Life, Lecturer, Dean of Students, and Vice-President for Student Affairs. He presently serves as vice president of the College of Education Alumni Chapter. He holds a B.A. and an M.S. from Southern Illinois University. He earned his Ed.D. in student personnel administration from the University of Maryland College of Education.

A complete biographical sketch can be found on the college's web site: www.education.umd.edu/alumni. In addition, nominations are being sought for the 2004 University of Maryland Alumni Association awards. Forms can be found at www.alumni.umd.edu, or by calling 301.405.4678.

Charlene Drew Jarvis, Ph.D., (right) President of Southeastern University, presented Carl E. Anderson (left) with the College of Education Distinguished Alumnus Award during the Fourth Annual University of Maryland Alumni Association Awards Gala held April 12, 2003. More than 400 guests attended

Hebeler Honored by the Council of Exceptional Children

ean R. Hebeler, professor emeritus in the Department of Special Education, was honored this spring with two awards in recognition of her contributions to the field of special education. Hebeler was presented with the 2003 Outstanding Leadership Award by the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC). The national award, which recognizes a CEC member who contributed to the council's recognition for its commitment, leadership, and dedication to service for students with exceptionalities, was presented at CEC's annual convention in Seattle, Washington.

The CEC Pioneer Division also honored Hebeler as this year's recipient of the Romain P. Mackie Leadership Award, presented annually by the Pioneers Division of CEC to a person who has demonstrated leadership over time in programs for exceptional children and youth. In addition, Hebeler was recognized as the Pioneers Division Showcase Honoree. The honoree is selected each year by the Pioneers Division Executive Board as someone who has, over time, made valuable and consistent contributions to CEC.

Hebeler has served the Council for more than 50 years, serving the organization's national and international initiatives. CEC is a professional association for special educators, related service providers, and parents, works to improve the educational success of individuals with disabilities and/or gifts and talents.

Her many contributions to her field and to the University of Maryland have not gone unnoticed. The Special Education Endowed Fund in Honor of Jean R. Hebeler honors and celebrates her accomplishments. Hebeler helped establish the Department of Special Education in the 1960s, and worked with colleagues to pioneer new concepts and approaches to teaching special needs students. Within the university community, she served as a member of the University Senate and acting dean of the College of Education from 1992 to 1994. For information, contact the Department of Special Education, 301.405.6515.

A Message from the Dean:

Edna Mora Szymanski

As this issue of Endeavors reaches your hands, I am entering my fifth year as dean of this outstanding College of Education. It has been a great honor to serve these last four years as this time has been marked with an extraordinary amount of progress.

I am most pleased to be able to share an update on our initiatives and successes. It is important that our alumni and friends understand how the very strengths of the college are helping sustain excellence despite the well-publicized fiscal challenges facing the state and the university.

Following is a summary of how the college continues to excel through its research, nationally recognized academic programs, outstanding students, and professional development opportunities for K-12 personnel.

Research and nationally recognized excellence

The college contributes to new knowledge and application of knowledge through a wide array of externally funded research programs. Research projects can be broadly described under the topics of teaching and learning; social, emotional, and cognitive development; assessment and measurement; and policy and analysis. Major funding agencies are the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Department of Education, and the National Institutes of Health. Findings are published in national and international, peer refereed journals and used to guide classroom instruction and outreach programs.

I am very proud to report that the college has continued its rise in national recognition among research colleges of education (see related story in this issue of Endeavors). It is important to note that all of the college's educational specialty programs are ranked in the top 15 in either U.S. News & World Report or another national ranking system. No other Maryland or greater Baltimore-Washington institutions have any specialty programs ranked in the top 15.

Outstanding students

The incoming profiles of our bachelor's and doctoral students have risen consistently over the past few years. Our college freshmen currently have average SAT scores higher than the average for all majors combined at most Maryland public institutions, and slightly over half of our graduating students begin their education at this university.

The college has also initiated an annual study of the retention of its graduates in teaching and related fields. Overall, 81.8 percent of the 2002 graduates, 76.9 percent of the 2000 graduates, and 72.7 percent of the 1998 graduates are still teaching, either in Maryland or out of state, and others are in related K-12 professions. At five years out, 79.5 percent of the graduates remain in teaching or related K-12 professions. Although the less than perfect response rate could lower the actual numbers somewhat, these results nonetheless suggest reasonably strong retention rates of college graduates.

Professional development programs for K-12 personnel The college offers a number of degree and professional development programs for certification and professional development of teachers, school psychologists, school administrators, and other K-12 personnel.

On average, over 500 individuals participate in these programs each term. In addition, during the past year, the college has provided 13,455 hours of continuing education to K-12 personnel through the professional development school networks, which also provide the clinical experiences to teacher candidates.

In closing, I am happy to have an opportunity to share an update on our programs and progress. To read more about each of these areas, please visit our college web site, where we have posted full reports on each of these topics: www.education.umd.edu/dean/reports.html

On behalf of the College of Education, I want to thank our alumni and friends for your sustained interest and support. Have a restful and enjoyable summer.

Eda Mor Symansh.

Edna Mora Szymanski Dean, College of Education

New NIH Grant to Support Child Development Research

hat factors influence the development of a child into an adult? Faculty in the University of Maryland's Department of Human Development have been investigating this issue for many years, and will continue this research with the help of a grant from the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The funds will support a Graduate Training Program in Social Development where doctoral students will get a chance to work on this complex question.

Specific research topics will include the origins of empathy, the development of concepts of fairness, children's friendships and peer relationships, adolescent self perceptions, children's and adolescents' motivation to learn in schools, and civic engagement. Melanie Killen, professor in the Department of Human Development, says the new program will be strongly mentor-based and is designed to give doctoral students the tools they need to become faculty in institutions of higher education or investigators in dedicated research institutions. One major goal for those students will be to learn how to translate research into action through school partnerships, workshops for teachers, consulting and other initiatives, said Killen, who will be the training program director.

The five-year, $863,000 training grant comes from the National Institute of Child and Human Development (NICHD) at NIH.

Alumni and friends who participate in the college activities

A Familiar Face Joins the External Relations Team

E ven if you don't know the face, you may recall the name.

Darcelle H. Wilson recently returned to the College of Education to accept the position as the new Assistant Dean for Development. She previously worked as director of development for the college from 1996 to 2000. During her time away from the college, she managed marketing and fundraising for a presidential-level initiative, the Baltimore Incentive Awards Program.

Wilson will work closely with the dean, department chairs and faculty to explore fund raising opportunities for the College of Education, including initiatives related to the Maryland Institute for Minority Achievement and Urban Education, endowed chairs and new scholarships, and a planned addition to the existing Benjamin Building.

External relations team members include Deborah Hudson, Assistant Dean for External Relations, who is responsible for public relations, communications and publications. She joined the college in 1999. Patricia Costantino, '66,' 69, introduced in the last issue of Endeavors, is Director of Alumni Relations. She is responsible for all college alumni events and board activities. A longtime employee of the college, she joined the Dean's office last fall. She and Marie DeLorenzo are co-authors of the recent book, Developing a Professional Teaching Portfolio—A Guide for Success.

and events will also meet team members Rochella McKoy and Thomasina McLeish, who provide critical administrative support to the external relations unit.

Hidden Waters Event a Success!

Hidden Waters, the historic Baltimore residence University System of Maryland Chancellor, was the setting for a Feb. 13, 2003, reception for Baltimore area alumni. Chancellor and Mrs. William E. Kinvan graciously hosted the lovely evening attended by more than 200 alumni and friends of the college. Pictured from left to right: Jean Mullan, Marina Reichhart-Erickson, Christina Reichhart, Chancellor William E. Kinvan, Janet Lannon and John Lannon.

College Mourns Passing of Dr. Hugh "Buck" Morgan

Hugh Gerthon 'Buck" Morgan

Hugh Gerthon "Buck"
Morgan, Ph.D, professor emeritus of the Department of Human Development and a co-founder of the Institute for Child Study, died March 20,
2003, in Corsicana, Texas, where he made his home with his wife of 52 years, Dorothy.
Morgan served as the director

Hugh Gerthon 'Buck' Morgan of the institute for 20 years until his retirement in 1980. The interdisciplinary institute, part of the College of Education's Human Development department, was started in 1946 by Morgan and his mentor, Daniel ment, was started in 1946 by Morgan and his mentor, Daniel Prescott, Ph.D. Morgan initially served as assistant director of the institute, and was a full professor. At that time, he was the youngest full professor at a major university.

In addition to his position with the institute. Morgan also

In addition to his position with the institute, Morgan also served as the chair of the Department of Human Development, and as acting dean of the College of Education, from 1976 to 1977. He was the author of History a War Boom Community and Feelings and Learning, and penned numerous articles for academic journals and magazines.

He earned his bachelor's degree and graduated cum laude from Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina, while working full-time at a steel and textile mill. After teaching for a year, he went on to earn master's and doctoral degrees in behavioral science from the University of Chicago. According to his obituary in the Corsicana Daily Sun, Morgan worked and consulted with public and private schools, mental health facilities, and government organizations across the globe. He helped with the development of the long-running PBS series, "Footsteps," and was invited to the White House twice in honor of his significant contributions on behalf of children worldwide.

Retired faculty colleague and friend Richard Matteson, expressed his feeling about Morgan as part of a tribute to the longtime educator this past April at the College of Education Retirees Association luncheon: "Buck touched the lives of so many of us, and this is passed on to others...he continues to be with us in important ways. How we loved his visits in December when "the old timers" would get together!"

College of Education Dean, Edna Mora Szymanski, expressed condolences on behalf of the college: "I see on a daily basis the foundation that was built by Dr. Morgan, both in the department and the college. The Human Development department was shaped in large part by his contributions, and his memory is very much alive in the college today."

Morgan is survived by his wife, Dorothy, son G. Laird Morgan and his wife Lisa, Richardson, Texas, one granddaughter, two nieces, a great-niece and a great nephew, many cousins, and the aunt of this wife. He was buried in Coolidge, Texas, following services held March 22 in Corsicana. In lieu of flowers, contributions could be made to a charity of choice or designated to the Institute for Child Study at the University of Maryland.

We Remember...

The College of Education gratefully remembers the contributions of these retired faculty and staff members who passed away this academic year:

Clayton Stunkard, Ph.D., retired faculty, Department of Measurement, Statistics and Evaluation. Passed away in June 2003.

Joan Hunt, Ph.D., retired faculty member, Department of Human Development. Passed away in June 2003.

Laura Dittmann, Ph.D., retired faculty member, Department of Human Development. Passed away in May 2003.

Hugh Gerthon "Buck" Morgan, Ph.D., retired faculty and former chair of the Department of Human Development. Also served as interim dean. Passed away in March 2003. (see related story, this page)

Mary Ahalt, retired member of the dean's office staff. Passed

The College will honor these former faculty and staff members with special resolutions presented during the college's Fall Faculty Assembly.

We were also notified that Malvin E. Moore, Jr., Ph.D., longtime friend of the College of Education, passed away in December 2002. A lifetime educator, Moore crossed paths with Harold Benjamin, former College of Education dean, when Benjamin was a faculty member at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville. Benjamin was Moore's doctoral advisor. Moore was the first African American to earn a doctorate from Peabody College. He regarded Benjamin as a pivotal figure is his life, and honored his mentor through regular gifts to the Harold R. Benjamin Fund, housed within the College of Education, which provides financial assistance to graduate students.

Outstanding Alumni Feted at Awards Ceremony; Nominations Sought for 2003-04 Honorees

 \mathbf{S}^{ix} College of Education alumni were honored for their outstanding accomplishments in a Nov. 19, 2002 awards ceremony titled "Celebrating Education, a Tribute to Teaching and Learning." Six distinguished alumni were recognized, including the first Terp Teacher of the Year, a new annual award.

The awards ceremony was part of several activities planned as part of the college's tribute to American Education Week. Other activities included an evening of professional update seminars featuring college faculty speakers, and a presentation by author Jan Pottker, one of the alumni award

Awards were presented by the College of Education Alumni Chapter president, Jean Mullan '68, and Dean of the College, Edna Mora Szymanski. Kappa Delta Pi co-sponsored the evening. Events are already being planned for the American Education Week, Nov. 17-21, 2003. The awards ceremony will be held on Nov. 20, 2003, at the University Golf Course clubhouse.

Editor's Note: Nominations are now being accepted for the 2003-04 awards ceremony. The nomination form is below. Visit the web at: www.education.umd.edu/alumni for more information.

Alumni Award recipients honored by the college are (from left to right): Michele A Zurad, Terp Teacher of the Year; Ronald A. Peiffer, Outstanding Professional in Education; James P. Barufaldi, Outstanding Scholar in Education; Carl E. Anderson, Outstanding Leader in Education, Edna Mora Szymanski, Dean; Jean Mullan, Alumni Chapter President; Jan P. Pottker, Alumni Entrepreneur of the Year, and Ed Andrews, Outstanding Professional in Education.

2003 Alumni Awards ~ Call for Nominations

The College of Education Alumni Chapter and Phi Kappa Delta invites alumni, faculty, and staff to submit nominations for the 2003 Alumni Awards. The awards honor recipients who are University of Maryland College of Education alumni who have made outstanding contributions to the field of education through teaching, research, leadership or service. Deadline for nominations is Sept. 1, 2003. The awards ceremony is Nov. 20, 2003.

AWARD CATEGORIES

Outstanding Leader in Education

This award is presented to a College of Education alumnus to honor significant contributions to the field of education through leadership in educational policy. Nomination materials should clearly describe the nominee's contributions to the field, and the impact of those contributions.

Outstanding Scholar in Education

This award honors a College of Education alumnus who has made significant research contributions in the field of education. Nomination materials should clearly specify the nature and impact of the research on individuals involved in education.

Outstanding Professional in Education

College of Education alumni who have made significant contributions to teaching, administration, or counseling in the field of education are eligible to be nominated for this award. Nomination materials should describe the nominee's contributions, with particular emphasis on integrity and service to the profession.

Outstanding New Professional in Education

This award will recognize a recent College of Education alumnus for outstanding achievements in any area of education (leadership, research or professional practice) with no more than 10 years postgraduate experience. Nomination materials must clearly describe the honoree's achievements within their professional careers.

Alumni Entrepreneur of the Year

This award will recognize a College of Education alumnus who has charted a successful career in a field not traditionally associated with research and teaching. Nomination materials must clearly explain how the nominee's education degree contributed to their achievements.

SUBMITTING NOMINATIONS

To nominate an alumni/ae, please submit in writing:

- · A letter of nomination specifying the category for which the nominee should be considered
- A biographical sketch of the individual (200 to 400 words)
- · Curriculum vitae or resumé
- A completed 2003 Alumni Awards Nomination Form (see below)

2003 COLLEGE OF EDUCATION ALUMNI AWARDS NOMINATION FORM BACKGROUND INFORMATION: Call for Nominations Name of Nominee _ Home Address _ Home Phone Nominee's Year of Graduation _ Degree or Field of Study Nomination submitted by _ Home Address Home Phone Your relationship to the nominee: NARRATIVE: For which award are you submitting this nomination? Briefly explain the nominee's contributions to the field of education: Briefly explain why you are nominating this alumnus for recognition by the College of Education Alumni Chapter: DEADLINE FOR NOMINATION MATERIALS This nomination form and supporting information (as detailed above) must be submitted no later than Sept. 1, 2003. A committee comprised of Alumni Chapter board members, department chairs, and college leadership will notify honorees and their nominators by mid-September. Send completed to: Patricia Costantino, Director of Alumni Relations, 3115 Benjamin Building, College of Education, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742. For more information, send an email to: COEalumnievents@umail.umd.edu

College of Education Alumni Invited to Retirees Association Activities!

The College of Education Retiree's Association (COERA) is an organization of retired faculty and staff from the College of Education. This active, vibrant organization offers a wide variety of activities open to college retirees, along with their spouse or Among its activities are day trips within the region. Recent activities have included lunch at Weaver's Restaurant with a boat ride on the C & O Canal to Delaware City, and a trip to the Lily Langtree's Dinner Theater in King of Prussia, Penn. COERA has also planned trips to the Philadelphia flower show, a visit to a plantation in Fredericksburg, or a night at the Three Little Bakers Dinner Theater in Delaware. The group is also discussing a possible cruise in the future.

The association's Board of Directors has chosen to extend a cordial invitation to College of Education alumni who would be interested in joining the fun! If you would like to be included on a general mailing list to receive information about the COERA, please drop us a note with your name, address/email address, and telephone number to: Robert Hardy, COERA Coordinator, 0307A Benjamin Building, College of Education, University of Maryland, College Park, MD, 20742. Contact Hardy at 301.405.3174 or send an email to rh8@umail.umd.edu. Please indicate your interest in day trips, a cruise, or both!

Would you like to invest in educational excellence?

The University of Maryland College of Education ranks 21st in the nation. Our future is bright with progress and prestige. There's a way that you can help today.

- Are you interested in making a gift that returns fixed, guaranteed, lifetime income to you and/or to one other person, and later supports the education initiatives at the University of Maryland?
- Are you able to make a gift of $5,000 or more using cash or appreciated securities?
- Do you own stock or cash assets yielding 5% or less annually?
- Are you over 50 years of age?

If you can answer "yes" to at least three of these questions, a Charitable Gift Annuity to benefit the College of Education may be an ideal opportunity for you to invest in excellence. When you establish a gift annuity with a contribution of cash or appreciated securities, you receive in return a fixed, lifetime, guaranteed annual payout and a one-time charitable income tax deduction. Payout rates are higher the older you are.

For more information or a no-obligation gift annuity illustration tailored to your age and circumstances, contact: Darcelle H. Wilson, Assistant Dean for Development, College of Education, 301.405.6644 or visit www.inform.umd.edu/Campusinfo/Departments/InstAdv/ philanthropy Endeavors is a publication for Friends and Alumni of the College of Education at the University of Maryland.

Editor:

Deborah Hudson

Contributors:

Patricia Costantino, Nancy Conaway, Jean Mullan, David Ottalini, and Darcelle H. Wilson

Do you have a comment you want to make or information to share? Contact us:

3115 Benjamin Building, University of Maryland College Park, MD 20742, or send an email to: Endeavors@education.umd.edu.

1946

Mary Lou Iacangelo (B.A.), Silver Spring, Md., retired in 1993 after 38 years in teaching.

Claire Silaskowski Harris (B.A.), Quincy, Penn., writes that she taught in Maryland high schools before marriage and later worked as an elementary school librarian. She married a biologist, had three children, and is now retired, keeping busy by traveling extensively.

10/10

Anna Mae Slacum (B.S.), Cambridge, Md., is active in church and the AARP.

1949

Jean B. Mann (B.S.), Edgewater, Md., is a retired kindergarten teacher at Andrews Air Force Base as well as a retired L.P.N. (nurse practitioner).

1951

James C. Kellam, Jr. (B.S.), now lives in Winter Park, Fla. He had a career in military and civilian electronics, teaching field engineering. "U of M got me my first job after graduation – teaching electronics to Army personnel at Aberdeen Proving Ground."

1952

Robert P. Clagett (B.A.), Centerville, Md., was elected to the National Academy of Engineering in 1986, served as dean of the College of Business from 1985-1990, worked as a lecturer at University of Rhode Island from 1990-97, then moved back to the Eastern Shore in 1998.

David P. Carlisle (B.A.), lives in San Mateo, Calif., where he retired in 1992 after almost 40 years of teaching middle school.

1953

Joan Clark Thielemann (B.A.), Ellicott City, Md., writes that she is retired after teaching middle school history for 14 years.

1954

Frances White Walker (B.S.), Adelphi, Md., reports that her parents, children and other family members are University of Maryland graduates, including graduates from the Maryland Agricultural College.

1056

Lisel Spielman Bernstein (B.A.), Beverly Hills, Calif., has retired from teaching and now works as a travel agent.

In Tarpon Springs, Fla., Agnes Sinniger Kuhn (M.S.), writes that she spent 40 years working in education at the early childhood, high school, and university levels.

1959

Joey (Gladys) Potter (B.S.), Silver Spring, Md., says she "works a bit," mentors school children, and spends a lot of time with her five grandchildren.

Jennye F. Schultz (Ed.D.), writes from Cherry Hill, N.J. that she worked at the Temple University College of Education in Philadelphia, Penn., from 1969 to 1995.

1960

Marshall A. Thompson (B.S.), Maxton, N.C., taught science, chemistry and biology in Prince George's County from 1959-83, then retired to North Carolina. He enjoys canoeing and raises horses.

1961

Donald E. Barock (B.S.), Brent, Ala., is an engineer manager at Bell System Design and Construction.

Melinda Callis (B.S.), Sykesville, Md., retired after teaching 38 years in Baltimore County and one year in Oslo, Norway.

1961 (cont.)

Ruth S. Overholser (B.S.), of Wyomissing, Penn., retired after teaching music for 12 years in Prince George's County.

1962

Celia Katzel (B.S.), writes from Tucson, Ariz., where she remains active in her 6-year-old granddaughter's education.

Elizabeth K. Vanden Heuvel (B.S.), Annapolis, Md., writes that she spent 30 years as a teacher and principal in Prince George's County, ten years as a family therapist at Bowie Youth and Family Services, and now works part-time at University of Maryland Family Service Center. She has three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Robert R. Riley (B.S.), who lives in Fullerton, Calif., writes that he is presently working on an assignment in Portugal!

Howard N. Hall (M.Ed.), Annapolis, Md., worked as a teacher, principal, and assistant superintendent in Anne Arundel County Public Schools for 35 years. He is now retired.

Irving W. Custis (M.Ed.), Fort Washington, Md., is retired after nine years as a math teacher and 27 years as administrator of adult and evening high school at Crossland High School in Prince George's County.

1964

Frances Washe Paepcke (B.S.), lives in Columbus, Ga. She has four children: Pam, a middle school science and math teacher; Pris, a Marine Corps captain; Jon, a CBS television news reporter; and Becca, a senior at University of Georgia.

1965

Bonnie Portman Zacher (B.A.), writes from Boca Raton, Fla. that she is a National Board Certified teacher.

Edward J. Ryan (B.S.), Baltimore, Md., retired after 35 years in the teacher engineering department at Baltimore Polytechnic Institute.

Jack Noon (B.S., M.Ed.), lives in Princeton, N.J. He has run a state-of- the-art multimedia company, Midi, Inc., for 18 years.

Edward A. Clement (M.Ed.), Landover, Md., retired from education for 34 years, when he worked as a teacher and principal in the Anne Arundel and Prince George's county school districts. He is now a member and president of the Prince George's County Retired Teachers Association, vice-chair of the Learn Foundation, president of the Columbia Park Civic Association, and former president of the Prince George's County Community College Board of Trustees.

Fred Klaburner (B.S.), Tallahassee, Fla., retired after working for 20 years as a computer engineer and ten years as a manager for IBM.

1967

Margaret A. Barnes McCoy (M.Ed.), Dallas, Texas, works as an employee development officer for the Department of the Interior. She wrote to say that she married her college sweetheart!

1968

Linda Boyer Brundrett (B.S.), lives in Fallston, Md. She retired after teaching nursery school, first grade, second grade, and primary special reading

1969

Judith Lese (B.S.), Silver Spring, Md., is a teacher at Cannon Road Elementary School in Silver Spring. She's had a College of Education student volunteering in her classroom.

William L. Beckman (B.S.), lives is in Simpsonville, S.C., and manages a company that provides financial services and discounted insurance to educators. Previously, he taught American history and government and coached baseball for 24 years.

Raymond R. Schneider (M.Ed.), of Conyngham, Penn., retired after 31 years. He worked four years in Howard County, and 27 years in the Hazleton (Pennsylvania) Area School District—fives years as a teacher and 22 years as a principal.

1970

Gerald Rubin (Ph.D.) lives in Myrtle Beach, S.C. He was formerly a professor of psychology at Central Virginia Community College and was a licensed Virginia psychologist. His son recently graduated from Arizona State University.

Freda Goodman (B.S.), Marietta, Ga., is the chair of the Social Studies department at Riverwood High School in Fulton County, where she teaches advanced placement psychology, international affairs, and world history.

Susan (Jaskulsky) Jacobson (B.A.), Reisterstown, Md., is a producer and writer for Maryland Public Television. She has won three Emmy Awards, and is a member of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

1971

Gwendolyn Madee Betts Wright (B.S.), Randallstown, Md., was an art teacher for 28 years and then served as assistant principal with Baltimore City Public Schools before retiring. She still serves as a part-time teacher.

In Galesville, Md., Jessie Woodfield (B.S.), taught for 32 years in grades 3-6 in Anne Arundel County. She now works as a substitute teacher as Southern Senior High.

1972

Dennis Hartnett (B.S.), lives in College Park. After 28 years of teaching, he retired from education and is now a consultanting environmental education for the National Wildlife Visitor Center in Laurel, Md.

Linda Hurst (B.S.), Mt. Airy, Md., and has retired. She now runs a pet-sitting business, has one grandson, and owns lots of horses and dogs.

Martha McIntyre (B.S.) of Silver Spring, Md., has been a Department of Defense middle school math teacher for 22 years. She has worked in Gaeta, Italy; Madrid, Spain; Incirlik, Turkey; and Hohenfels, Germany. In 1998, she received the Presidential Award for Mathematics on behalf of the Department of Defense.

Diane (Borgerding) Thibeault (B.S.), Forest Hill, Md., writes that she is a third grade teacher at Hampton Elementary School in Baltimore County.

1973

Eve (Ethel Vitale) Jordan (B.S.), lives in College Park. After 29 years in education, she was trained as a co-active life coach.

James H. Layton (M.Ed.), in Henrico, N.C., retired after more than 30 years in education, the last 20-plus years as an assistant principal. He now lives at Lake Gaston on the Virginia-North Carolina border.

Laura Stransky (B.S.), is retired and living Port St. Lucie, Fla. She writes that she enjoys her life and volunteer work.

Louis E. Frenzer, Jr. (M.Ed.), in Austin, Texas writes that he has just published his 16th book and is now working on his next one.

1974

Barbara (Fund) Trautman makes her home in Port Charlotte, Fla. She is retired and volunteering as a see to the American Legion Auxiliary.

Everene Johnson-Turner (B.S.), lives in Baltimore, Md. and writes that she was one of the original members of the Sugar Hill Alumni Association, which began in December 1971.

Philip Mendelson (A.G.S.), Gaithersburg, Md., is a technology education teacher for Montgomery County Public Schools and is planning on retiring in a year.

1975

Carolyn Ann Berry Bryant (M.A.), Frankford, W. Va, is retired. She is active in the church and the choir, paints watercolors and acrylics, and is also active in Delta Kappa Gamma, a women educator's group.

LTC (Ret.) Mike Murnane (M.Ed.), Drexel Hill, Penn., has retired from the Army and is teaching American history at Valley Forge Military Academy and College.

Margaret Anderson Barnes (M.A.), Lanham, Md., recently penned the book, 'But, I Love You': How You Can Know God, with Ebbie Saith. The book is sold available on Amazon.com.

Terps With That Loving Feeling... Did You Meet Your Mate Here?

Calling all love-birds—or is that love-terrapins? The College of Education is looking for alumni couples who met their mates while attending the University of Maryland.

We are planning a special couples-only alumni event in February for alumni Terp twosomes. The only caveat is that either the husband or wife must be a College of Education alumnus.

We want to hear from you...please drop us a note or give us a call. You can contact Patricia Costantino, Director of Alumni Relations, at 301.405.5607, or send an email to: pc34@umail.umd.edu.

Yes, I want to join my fellow classmates by supporting the College of Education in its quest for excellence. Please accept my gift to the Dean's Initiative Fund which is used to help projects in the College of Education where the support is needed most!

._____

Name
Address
City		te	Zip	·
Telephone
Email
Please accept my gift of: ☐ Other $	□ $1,000	□ $500	□ $250	□ $100	□ $50
☐ I have enclosed my check, payable to the	ne College of Ed	ucation-D	ean's Initia	tive Fund.

Please remit to:

Office of External Relations College of Education 3115 Benjamin Building University of Maryland College Park, MD 20742

Gifts received will be administered on behalf of the College of Education by the University of Maryland College Park Foundation, Inc., and are tax deductible to the fullest extent of the law.

Thank you!

Endeavors 7-0

www.education.umd.edu

GIFT CLUB LEVELS:

Colonnade Society

College Park Circle

$1,000 and Above

Red Brick Circle

Testudo Circle

$500 - $999

$250 - $499

$100 - $249

1975 (cont.)

Barbara Riggs (M.A.), Lanham, Md., is a professor and coordinator at Gallaudet University.

1976

Donna M. Chieffo Ivey (M.Ed.), Landover Hills, Md., writes that after her trip to the Holy Land and Turkey, "I have come to a deep sense of how we are one family in God."

Patricia McAdoo (M.Ed.), makes her home in Anchorage, Ala. She received the American Physical Therapy Association's Lucy Blair Service Award in 1999.

Sherie G. Southall Robey (B.S.), Waldorf, Md. She is an Maryland Student Service Alliance fellow.

1977

Mary Lee Bobby (M.Ed.), of Lexington, S.C., retired from teaching in Prince George's County, and is now living in South Carolina and enjoying her grandchildren.

1978

Fredrika S. Hill (M.Ed.), Ellicott City, Md., worked for six years as an assistant principal and 13 years as a principal before retirement.

1979

Felice (Rick) Rubenstein (B.S.) lives Boynton Beach, Fla. and has an 8-year-old son, Jeremy.

George Akens (Ed.D.), Roanoke,Va., is a retired elementary school principal and now works full-time as a realtor.

Margie Kurzbard (B.S.), lives in Fairbanks, Ala. She has three children, ages 4, 7 and 10, and has been a medical social worker for 11 years.

Lillian P. Wright (Ph.D.), is in Norfolk, Va. She has spent 38 years teaching consumer services and family studies classes to undergraduates and graduates.

1980

Jane Fitzgerald Eanes (B.S.), lives in Boise, Idaho, where she has six children, ranging in ages from 4 to 18.

Lynette V. Baker (B.S.), Palm Harbor, Fla., has lived in Florida for 10 years. She is the senior vice president of production for Universal American Mortgage Company.

1981

Meredith Cappel-Kane, Bel Air, Fla., was awarded the 2003 Teacher of the Year at Dunedin High School, Dunedin, Fla, where she is a teacher. This district award now qualifies her to be a candidate for the county Teacher of the Year award.

Judi (McCort) Citrenbaum (B.A.), lives in Silver Spring, Md. Before her present position as regulatory program manager of aerospace medicine for the FAA, she served as a professional translator for the Department of Defense.

Michael J. Martirano (B.S.), Columbia, Md., is the principal of Laurel High School.

1982

Mary Ann Wheeler Franklin (Ed.D.), is in New Orleans, La. She is the retired vice president for academic affairs at Mississippi State University.

Carolyn H. Cooper (M.Ed.), of Fort Washington, Md., is an honorary member of the Maryland Council of PTAs and has been the director of the Prince George's County Literary Council for seven years. She has also been the executive director of the National Organization of Public Education and Religious Liberty for two years and is a past president of the Prince George's County League of Women Voters.

Sunny Ariessohn (M.A.), lives in San Diego, Calif, where she just retired from a career as a San Diego County probation officer, a position that she has held since 1986.

1983

Hillary Watter (B.S.), Hastings, Neb., was just recently promoted to the rank of full professor of music at Hastings College.

1984

Donna Hemingway Cannon (B.S.), Winston-Salem, N.C., is a teacher at Winston-Salem Forsyth Academy. She just received national board certification as an early childhood generalist.

Omar Khiel, Jr. (B.S.), Glendale, Ariz., is married with three children and has been in business, running Oasis Custom Cycles, since 1988.

1985

Carol Sokolski (Ph.D.), Silver Spring, Md., is teaching Shakespeare to seniors and was named to the 1999–2000 listing of "Who's Who of American Women."

William W. Tubman, Jr. (Ed.D.), makes his home in Worton, Md. After retiring as a hospital administrator, he is now working as a professor of psychology at Washington College and is in private practice for family counseling.

Patricia E. Newby (Ed.D.), lives in Grand Rapids, Mich. She retired in June 2002 after 41 years in education, including fives years as a superintendent..

Patricia Gales (A.G.S.), lives in Confluence, Penn. Although handicapped, she writes that she continues to serve on the board at the Garrett County Board of Education for strategic planning.

Michael L. Larson (M.Ed.), Boardman, Ohio, works as the director of tests and evaluation at Lockheed Martin.

1986

Robert McDonald (Ph.D.), North Potomac, Md., is chief at the Center for the Study of National Reconnaissance.

Marie Burgee Roberts (B.S.), Bel Air, Md., is an elementary school teacher for Harford County. She has four children, including a set of twins.

1987

Martin H. Nadelman (Ed.D.), lives is in Elon College, N.C. He has been president of Alamance Community College since 1999, before that he was president of Martin Community College.

1989

Scott Rand (B.S.), Candia, N.H., is a senior patent attorney with McLane, Graf, Raulerson, and Middleton, in Manchester, N.H.

Karen Schramm Field (B.S.), Wethersfield, Conn., has two children. She holds the Connecticut Teacher's Professional License.

1989

David Klein (B.S.), lives in Frisco, Texas. He has two daughters: Eliana, 6, and Arielle, 1.

Sheila Holzberger (M.A.), Frederick, Md., has operated her own business for 10 years. She's been developing online texts and videotape training programs for a variety of clients.

1000

Mary K. Finan (Ed.D.), Cumberland, Md., is an associate professor at Frostburg State University

Patricia A. Kusik (Ph.D.), Street, Md., has been director of "Learning Success" since 1984, presenting workshops for parents and educators on reading strategies as well as ADD/ADHD.

1992

Susan M. Boyd (M.Ed.), Chevy Chase, Md., is a kindergarten teacher at Norwood School in Bethesda.

1993

Diane M. Huneycutt (B.S.), Linwood, N.C., is pursuing a masters of education in school administration at Gardner-Webb University.

Sheila (Feldman) Berlinger (B.S.), Germantown, Md., has been teaching for nine years and has been married for six years. Her daughter, Janel Ruth, was born in December 2000.

MY NEWS:

1993 (cont.)

Abigail (Gaines) Hargrave (B.S.), Greenbelt, Md., was a finalist for Anne Arundel County Private School Teacher of the Year for 2000–2001.

Edith M. Peter (M.S.), Silver Spring, Md., says she loves her new position as assistant teacher to lead teacher, Joan Smith.

Tamra Tarr Andrew (B.S.), Chester, Md., is a small business owner and entrepreneur in Stevensville, Md. She has a daughter, 5, and a son, who is less than a year old.

Wesley T. Doll (B.S.), lives Carroll Valley, Penn. He taught for four and a half years and served as assistant principal for a year and a half before assuming his present role as principal of Washington Elementary School in Hanover, Penn.

Marcie Satosky (B.A.), Bethesda, Md., where she is a teacher at Diamond Elementary School, part of the Montgomery County Public School System. She started a primary program for children with Asperger's Syndrome and High Functioning Autism.

1994

Diane N. Palmer (Ph.D.), is in Belmont, Mass., working as the Massachusetts State Coordinator for the Center for Civic Education and as a consultant, substitute teacher, and student teacher supervisor.

Rona J. Green (B.S.), in Ellicott City, Md., is a business and computer teacher for Howard County Public Schools.

1995

Gary Barone (B.S.), Cola, S.C., has accepted a proposal from the Fulbright Teacher Exchange Program.

Pamela White-Taylor (B.S.), writes from Youngsville, N.C., that she was recently nominated for the Disney American Teacher Award, and that she serves as a paid mentor and Pre-K special education teacher in Franklin County, N.C.

1996

Robert E. Prater (B.S.), writes from Minneapolis, Minn., that he is married to Alyssa Anderson Prater, '98, and they had their first baby, Anders, in August 2001.

1997

Christopher T. Roorda (B.A.), Largo, Md., will be part of the guidance department at the new East Central Middle School in Largo.

From York, Penn., Linda R. Matesevac (Ph.D.), writes that her daughter and family moved to Spain in May 2002: "I plan to spend much of the summer and most vacations on the Malaga beaches!"

1998

Alwilda Scholler-Jaquish (Ph.D.), Reno, Nev., is an assistant professor at the University of Nevada at Reno.

Karen Haven (B.S.), Rockville, Md., is teaching at John F. Kennedy High School in the Leadership Training Institute while pursuing a master's degree in educational technology at Johns Hopkins.

1999

Billy Cockrell (A.G.S.), Clearfield, Ky., is writing a book on palindromics.

Dana L. Williams (M.A.), Chicago, Ill., is pursuing a Ph.D., with a minor in health at the Illinois School of Professional Psychology at Chicago of Argosy University.

Douglas A. Powell (Ph.D.), Frederick, Md., has written two methodological papers in the past two years, both of which were accepted for publication.

Heather Praml (B.S.), writes from Towaco, N.J., and writes that she married Allen Tresselt, '98, in July 2001.

Editor's Note: These Class Notes were drawn from the numerous responses we received following the October 2002 edition of Endeavors. We will continue to print Class Notes in future editions. If you have news to share, please fill out and return the form below, or send an email to: Endeavors@umail.umd.edu.

We Would Like to	Hear From You
------------------	----------------------	--

Please take a moment to fill out this form and return it to the College of Education.
You can also use this form to request publications or get more information about o
College of Education Alumni Chapter activities.

PERSONAL
Name
City	State	Zip
Preferred Email Addres	s
Spouse
	sity of Maryland graduate? \square Yes ${}^{ extstyle exts$	□ No Grad Year(s)
EDUCATION AND EMPL	OYMENT.
Graduation Year	Department/Program Major	Degree

Additional Education (school, degree, year) _____

$\ \square$ Check this box if you do NOT want yo	our news to be part of Class Notes
Check here if you would like additional	information on:
□ College of Education Alumni Chapter	email updates (email address required)
oxdot Details on how to volunteer at College	e of Education special events
(Commencement receptions, Alumni A	Awards ceremonies, advisory committees.
Maryland Day, etc.)
Maryland Day, etc.) ☐ Planned giving opportunities to benefi	it the College of Education

Mail this form to: Endeavors, Office of External Relations, College of Education, 3115 Benjamin Building, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 2072

Or, send us an email to: Endeavors@umail.umd.edu

Calendar of Event

Following is a list of upcoming events of interest to College of Education alumni and friends. For information on any of these events, please contact Pat Costantino, '66, '69, Director of Alumni Relations, College of Education, at 301.405.5607, or send an email to pc34@umail.umd.edu. Visit our web site: www.education.umd.edu/alumni

Wednesday, September 10, 2003

Eastern Shore Alumni Event

Dinner with the Dean Windows on the Bay Restaurant

Ocean City, Maryland

If you are a College of Education Alumni living on the Eastern Shore, look for your special invitation to meet the Dean and greet fellow alumni in Ocean City.

Thursday, September 18, 2003

College of Education Alumni Chapter Board of Directors Meeting

6:30 p.m. 3237 Benjamin Building University of Maryland www.education.umd.edu/alumni

Sunday, September 21, 2003

Walters Art Gallery Private Viewing: Eternal Egypt

In collaboration with the Maryland Alumni Association, the College of Education will be sending invitations to local area alumni to attend this private viewing of the Eternal Egypt Artifacts collection from the British Museum. Information and registration materials will be sent this summer, and a fee will be charged to attend. Visit the University of Maryland Alumni Association web site for details: www.umd.edu/alumni

Thursday through Saturday, October 16-18, 2003

Maryland State Teachers Association Convention 2003

The College of Education will again host a booth in the exhibit hall at this Ocean City meeting to welcome alumni and distribute information about new certification and degree programs. Please stop by and say hello!

Friday, October 24, 2003

Philadelphia Area College of Education Alumni Event

Dinner with the Dean

Radnor Hotel

Last year, Dean Edna Mora Szymanski hosted this event, and she is looking forward to returning to Philadelphia. Please plan to join the Dean for dinner at the Radnor in October. Invitations will be mailed.

Friday, October 31-November 1, 2003

University of Maryland Homecoming Weekend 2003

The Maryland Alumni Association offers fun and enriching activities for every interest this Homecoming Weekend. Members of the Class of 1953 will hold a special reunion, and the 11th annual leadership conference for alumni who work on behalf of the Alumni Chapters will be held at the Golf Course Clubhouse! Tailgates begin two and one-half hours prior to each Maryland football game at Ludwig Field, adjacent to Lot 1. Come and cheer the Terps onto victory for the Maryland vs. Clemson homecoming game. www.alumniconnections.com

Thursday, November 6, 2003

College of Education Alumni Chapter Board of Directors Meeting

6:30 p.m. 3237 Benjamin Building University of Maryland www.education.umd.edu/alumni

November 17-21, 2003

American Education Week Events hosted by the College of Education Alumni Board

The Social and Professional Outreach committee of the College of Education Alumni Chapter will sponsor two events on Tuesday, November 18, in the 3237 Benjamin Building. If you would like to attend, contact Pat Costantino, or visit: www.education.umd.edu/alumni

Experiences of High Achieving Black Collegians 6 to 7 p.m. Sharon Fries-Britt, Ph.D., assistant professor, Department of Education Policy and Leadership, College of Education

Meeting the Needs of the Under-served:

An Achievement Gap Pilot Program 7 to 8:30 p.m. Interactive workshop with Cathy Price, supervisory, and Rhonda Jones, instructional facilitator, Office of Equity and Cultural Diversity at Harford County Public Schools.

Thursday, November 20, 2003

College of Education Alumni Awards Ceremony 6 to 8:30 p.m.

Golf Course Clubhouse

"Celebrate Education - A Tribute to Teaching and Learning" is the theme for this annual College of Education event that recognizes alumni who have made significant contributions in the field of education. The categories are outstanding leader, scholar, professional, and new professional. Last year for the first time, the Terp Teacher of the Year award, and an Alumni Entrepreneur award were presented. See nomination form in this issue of Endeavors.

Wednesday, December 10, 2003

Baltimore Area Alumni Event

The Baltimore area Alumni event in February at the Chancellor's home Hidden Waters was attended by over 200 alumni, faculty and guests. Several Baltimore alums who attended this event will be planning a new event for this year. Details to be announced!

Saturday, December 20, 2003

College of Education Fall 2003 Graduation and Reception

The graduation ceremony is scheduled for December 20. The College of Education Alumni Board President will greet new alumni at the reception following the ceremony.

Thursday, February 12, 2004

College of Education Alumni Couples Event

Did you and your spouse meet at the University of Maryland? If so, please contact Pat Costantino to be invited back to campus for a romantic evening of nostalgia. Please join us for this very special event.

March 16-19, 2004

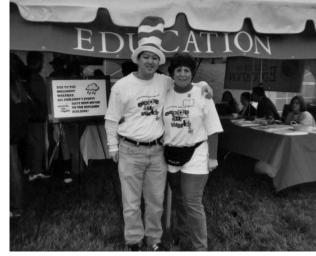

Florida Alumni Events

Dean Edna Mora Szymanski reaches out to our College of Education alumni living in Florida to keep them up-to-date on the College's outstanding national rankings and innovative research. Florida-based alumni should watch their mail for a special invitation. And, if you are an alumnus who winters in Florida, let us know.

Thursday, April 1, 2004

College of Education Alumni Chapter Board of Directors Meeting

6:30 p.m. 3237 Benjamin Building University of Maryland www.education.umd.edu/alumni

Derek Furukawa and Pat Costantino, Maryland Day 2003

Saturday, April 24, 2004

Maryland Day: Explore Our World

The University of Maryland, College Park opens its doors to alumni and their families, parents, prospective students, the business community and residents of the surrounding Baltimore-Washington Metro area to visit our beautiful campus. Come and enjoy a day filled with learning, exploration and fun for everyone. Stop by the College of Education tent on the mall to meet the Dean and learn about our programs.

Thursday, May 20, 2004

Silver and Gold Anniversary Program

Those of you who graduated in 1954 and 1979 are about to celebrate a Silver and Gold Anniversary. You will receive a special invitation to return to the college to reminisce about that momentous event in your life and participate in a reunion with your classmates as part of spring commencement festivities.

Friday, May 21, 2004

College of Education Spring 2004 Graduation and Reception

The College of Education graduation ceremony is scheduled for Friday, May 21. The College of Education Alumni Board President will greet new alumni at the reception following the ceremony.

3115 Benjamin Building • University of Maryland • College Park, MD 20742